Dean O'Banion and the consequent publicity to conditions is said to have led to his selection.

The order came as a complete surprise to almost every one. Hughes and Schoemaker included. Only a week ago Chief Collins had said there wasn't another man on the department the equal of Hughes as a detective and an executive.

Climax of Nightly Raids.
For a week there had been an extraordinary drive by the detective bureau, squads swooping down on all gathering places of gamblers, flirts and tough characters, filling the cells of the bureau every night. That was on Mayor Dever's orders to drive the gamblers out of town.

Then there was a whisper that the mayor was angry, that he was going to stir things up so that there would be more than a noticeable decrease of crime. He heard reports that several gamblers had attended a banquet given in honor of Dean O'Banion a few days before the gangster met his death. He directed Chief Collins to investigate.

Expulsion of O'Banion Banquet.
Chief Hughes admitted having been at that particular banquet. Yesterday he explained in further detail as follows:

"I didn't know a thing about any banquet for O'Banion. I left the bureau that night, and at the corner I met Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, who was then a delegate to United States senator, and County Clerk Robert M. Switzer. They asked me to accompany them to a banquet given for Jerry O'Connor, a union business agent, whom I knew to be honest and clean.

"The banquet was for O'Connor, not O'Banion. I went with Switzer and Sprague, both of whom are friends of the mayor. This banquet was like almost all others; the hoodlums were there.

Sort of Political Gathering.
"They go to all such affairs. O'Connor was affiliated with the Sprague campaign committee and it was a sort of political gathering. I left soon after I saw who were there, but there were many judges who stayed.

Chief Collins at the time said he had no complaint to make about Hughes for his attendance at the dinner. Hughes said he had been imposed on, and apparently that ended it with Chief Collins.

Then came reports from French Lick Springs, Ind. There the politicians were resting after the election. They were demanding the scalp of Chief Collins, his secretary, Capt. John Prendergast, and Chief Hughes, it was said. Mayor Dever warned them away, said Chief Collins was an efficient, honest, and faithful official, adding that he had no thought of yielding to political pressure and removing him.

Detective Shakeup Rumored.
Next, in political and police circles, came the rumblings of a shakeup in the detective bureau, but it was expected to start at the bottom rather than at the top. It came yesterday.

"I'm being made the goat," Hughes said when the order reached him. "Under Chief Fitzmorris I had a free hand here. I was allowed to select my own men. I took them from those receiving credible mention in the police bulletins. I built up a staff that with six squads accomplished more than the present seventeen squads could do.

"These political policemen will not work. They are secure in their jobs, due to their backing and they have proved utterly useless here.

"I have worked twenty hours a day for years and this is the thanks I get."

O'Banion Suspect Questioned.
Chief Schoemaker took up the reins where Hughes dropped them, in the middle of the O'Banion murder investigation. Frank Uale and Sam Pol-lack, New York gamblers, were being held as suspects and in connection with the oft asserted belief that whenever a Chicago hoodlum was doomed by his fellows, rivals or enemies, a request to Uale brought men here who would kill for a reasonable price.

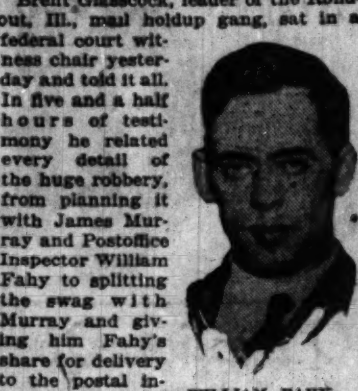

Efforts were made all day to obtain their release on a writ of habeas corpus. Assistant State's Attorney John Shearson and William McGovern opposed all those moves, stating it was important to the investigation to hold them. Judge John P. McGorty finally put off the writ until today at 10 o'clock.

AVERTS WIFE'S SUICIDE.
Mrs. Ella Bernold, 51, of 4070 North Winchester avenue, averted a possible suicide last night by gas. The attempt was discovered by her husband, Thomas Bernold, who called a policeman. The woman's life was saved.

U. S. Court Views $1,247,000 Mail Loot as Bandit Leader Depicts Fahy as Brains of Rondout Robbery

BY DONALD EWING.

WILLIAM FAHY.

Brant Glascock, leader of the Rondout, Ill., mail holdup gang, sat in a federal court witness chair yesterday and told it all. In five and a half hours of testimony he related every detail of the huge robbery, from planning it with James Murray and Postoffice Inspector William Fahy to splitting the loot.

Chief Hughes admitted having been at that particular banquet. Yesterday he explained in further detail as follows:

"I didn't know a thing about any banquet for O'Banion. I left the bureau that night, and at the corner I met Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, who was then a delegate to United States senator, and County Clerk Robert M. Switzer. Detective Shakeup Rumored.
Next, in political and police circles, came the rumblings of a shakeup in the detective bureau, but it was expected to start at the bottom rather than at the top. It came yesterday.

"I'm being made the goat," Hughes said when the order reached him. "Under Chief Fitzmorris I had a free hand here. I was allowed to select my own men. I took them from those receiving credible mention in the police bulletins. I built up a staff that with six squads accomplished more than the present seventeen squads could do.

Chief Schoemaker took up the reins where Hughes dropped them, in the middle of the O'Banion murder investigation. Efforts were made all day to obtain their release on a writ of habeas corpus. Assistant State's Attorney John Shearson and William McGovern opposed all those moves, stating it was important to the investigation to hold them. Judge John P. McGorty finally put off the writ until today at 10 o'clock.

AVERTS WIFE'S SUICIDE.
Mrs. Ella Bernold, 51, of 4070 North Winchester avenue, averted a possible suicide last night by gas. The attempt was discovered by her husband, Thomas Bernold, who called a policeman. The woman's life was saved.

as he took his seat. He folded the pistol with which he can handle a hand so accurately as to shoot quail on the fly. But, when he talked, his face became lined, his eyes hard, his voice was metallic and the only smiles were slight twitches at the mouth corners.

Tells of Life of Crime.
Quietly he admitted shooting a man in Oklahoma, blowing safes in Missouri and such, using perfect grammar except for occasional lapses into gutter vernacular such as "I made a meet with Fahy"—made an appointment—and "for three days I drove the getaway." This means drove over the roads to be used in the escape from Rondout after the robbery, so as to become familiar with them. This was done carefully to find the best ways from the little hamlet thirty-five miles northwest of Chicago where Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train No. 87 was robbed the night of June 12.

"I had known Murray since 1917," he explained, "and it was in February, 1924, that he first suggested mail robbery to me. He said he could get this on big money shipments from a friend."

Then the story already told by Jesse and Joe Newton of frequent trailing of mail trucks to learn their routes, twice waiting to hold one up and missing it, and then insisting that Murray produce the postal inspector tipster and that he produce real tips.

"So I made a meet with Murray for 9 p. m. at Jackson's restaurant about May 17," he continued. "Murray drove up in his Peerless with another man. Willis Newton was with me. Murray said, 'This is Fahy,' and the man he introduced said: 'I'm a postal inspector.'"

The witness was stopped to identify Fahy in the courtroom—and did so.

TELLS OF SHIPMENTS.
"Fahy flashed a badge," he continued. "I said I'd take his word on that—that we wanted was good dope for robberies. Fahy said, 'O, I can do that all right. I can go anywhere—in the mail cars, in the registered mail compartments, around the trucks, into the offices and any place else. Now there are big money shipments going out right along to Gary, Whiting, East Chicago, Savannah, Ill., Lake Forest and Georgetown, Ind. There's a $100,000 payroll to Georgetown on the 11th and 20th of every month.' I asked him how he knew that, and he said the postmaster there was a writer for guards for it. Fahy said it was to be transferred at Danville, Ill.

"Willis Newton said this was too small a job and I agreed it was piker since there was a train which Fahy said would have a million in cash and five or ten million in securities. Fahy gave Willis a guide showing where all mail was transferred, when it went out and everything."

In the meantime, Glascock said, as was meeting with Murray almost every day, and instructed Murray to get full information from Fahy about train No. 87.

The next meeting with Fahy, Glascock said, came when some of the gang were inspecting the Union station and the mail trucks' arrival.

Fahy Gives More Dope.
"Fahy and Murray drove up, and I asked Fahy what he had found about the train. He said: 'The registered mail all goes into the third car. There's only three guns on the train, and they're carried by the chief clerks; but, hell, they won't shoot. They don't know how.'"

Then came the "driving the getaway," careful study of maps, obtaining a garage in Ottawa by Murray, another on the south side by Holliday, another of the gang—and assigning each man to his work.

Holliday and Willis were to ride the train out. They were supposed to put on overalls in Murray's car en route to the station, but missed Murray and changed on the train-riding between the coal car and the first mail car.

"Willis said Murray came up just as they left and waved to them through the iron fence," Glascock testified.

Next he described the robbery, told of the unused quart of glycerin, and the gas that wasn't needed when the clerks dropped their guns in fright at sound of the robbers. As the train approached, the robbers waiting knew all was well, because Holliday flashed the flashlight, having subdued the engineer.

SILENT ON SHOOTING.
The shooting of Willis Newton—which led to arrest of the gang when he was found with Joe Newton and Murray in McComb's flat—was omitted. Glascock pleaded his constitutional rights on this.

Then the getaway and all of those details already told in court.

Next the gunman told how he buried a big part of the loot near Kansas City, planted the case in Oklahoma at the home of relatives, and some with friends in Wilmette.

"Holliday and I split the Kansas City part into seven shares and it made $101,000 in Liberty bonds and $1,000 in unassigned money for each share. That was one share for each of us six who held up the train and one share for Murray and Fahy to split."

There has been no evidence that McComb ever was in on the robbery or the loot.

Gives Murray His Share.
Later, he explained, he came back to Chicago, repeatedly met Murray, who had been arrested and released on bond. Then he went back to Kansas City for Murray's share of the loot buried near there and brought it to him.

About July 5, he went on, he met with Murray at the Wilson avenue bathing beach, which was the scene of many of their meetings.

"I went into the Sheridan Plaza hotel, where I was stopping, got his share I had brought from Kansas City and gave it to him," Glascock continued. "I also gave him $10,500 of my own to be used for lawyers for me if I was arrested."

Later Murray got $5,000 more and then $1,500, saying he had to have it for lawyers for the Newtons and to arrange bond for Joe.

Later $400,000 in commercial bonds was split between Murray and Glascock, payment being made at the Webster hotel where Murray registered as "Marsh," the witness said.

A few days later I had another meet with Murray and he said Fahy told him the cops had a description of my Packard car, so Murray had me hide it away in Lake Park."

Vague on Dates.
Then came his futile fight, his arrest in Michigan, his confession and plea of guilty.

Occasionally Glascock was a bit vague on dates in cross-examination—dates not figuring in the robbery, for he was better perfect on that.

"How many times have you and Jesse Newton and Joe Newton talked over the story of the robbery so your testimony here would agree on all dates," asked Short.

"O, quite a few," was the answer. The loot identified by Glascock—which he recovered for the government—was made up of $662,000 in Liberty bonds; $500,000 in commercial bonds; $90,000 in jewelry, and $35,000 in cash.

HIDING THE LOOT.
Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 18.—When Brant Glascock brought more than $400,000 of the Rondout, Ill., mail robbery loot out here to hide it he chose his brother-in-law's house as the hiding place and kept the money cached there for months without the brother-in-law knowing about it.

Some time ago postal inspectors came to the home of Chester Van Cleve, the brother-in-law, in search of the loot, but couldn't find it. A few days ago Glascock came with inspectors.

"Sorry to bother you, Van, but I want to get some money that I left here."

"Why, there's no money here," said the astonished Van Cleve.

"O, yes there is," answered Glascock, and he climbed to a chair in a clothes closet, pulled loose a board, and extracted $400,000 in bonds and $1,500 in unassigned money. It was part of the loot he identified in Chicago today.

MRS. HARDING MUCH WEAKER; NEARING COMA

Exhaustion Growing, Physician Says.

Marion, O., Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Still partially conscious, Mrs. Florence Kling Harding tonight was showing decided symptoms of impending coma, a bulletin issued at 9 o'clock by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, said.

Her exhaustion and weakness has increased all day, the statement said. The bulletin follows:

"Mrs. Harding is not so well tonight. Exhaustion and weakness has increased all day. Symptoms of impending coma are decided tonight. But she is still partially conscious. Her pulse is weak."

PAIR DIVORCED TO OBEY THE LAW GET 2D LICENSE

Albert Lipschitz, wealthy clothing manufacturer, and Miss Alice Bybee made ready yesterday to reap the benefits of their divorce—a divorce obtained so that their second marriage might be legal. The couple went to County Clerk Robert M. Switzer and obtained a license to wed.

Miss Bybee and Lipschitz met in Chicago, shortly after news came to him from New York of his wife's divorce. They fell in love and were married on June 23.

Then the first Mrs. Lipschitz appeared and said her divorce was an interlocutory one, not valid until Sept. 6. So the new bride, anxious to have it all regular, decided on a divorce. It was granted on Aug. 14, and the couple announced they would wed on Sept. 6 or soon thereafter.

WIFE A SUICIDE, PASTOR'S VIEW OF CREMATION

Temporarily Insane, He Tells Prosecutor.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—More than forty-eight hours have elapsed since the cremated body of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, 50 years old, wife of the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, was found in the furnace of the parsonage in Rixley, a suburb, and officials investigating the tragedy are no nearer a solution than they were yesterday, they admitted tonight.

They now believe that the woman may have killed herself but they will not believe that she crawled into a blazing furnace fire and burned herself to death.

They believe rather that if the woman is a suicide and not the victim of a peculiarly atrocious murder, her body was placed in the furnace by some one who may have found her dead in the house.

Funeral Services Held.

While detectives and Prosecutor King were inquiring further into the mystery today, funeral services were held in Christ Lutheran church, the charge of the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley. The body was not taken to the church. The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley was there with the four children, two girls and two boys; and the opening words of prayer were spoken by the Rev. Otto Meier, president of Capitol university, the faculty of which the pastor is a member. The church was packed with Mr. Sheatsley's parishioners.

The Rev. Charles Pfleger, who conducted the services, indirectly allured the flock to stand by the pastor, who has been questioned regarding his movements on Monday, when the tragedy occurred. After the ceremony Mr. Sheatsley and his children went with the body to Paris, O., where burial will take place tomorrow.

Seven persons have been questioned regarding the death. These include the pastor-husband, his sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence, 16; his daughters, Elizabeth and Alice, 14 and 10 years old; E. E. Bridewasser, Capitol university student, and C. O. Strader, delivery man for a local bakery.

Check Pastor's Movements.

Detectives today were checking particularly the stated movements of the preacher and the boys on the day of the tragedy, and late tonight it was said that Mr. Sheatsley's movements were found to be exactly as he had stated them yesterday to Prosecutor King.

Coroner J. A. Murphy gave most credence to the theory that Mrs. Sheatsley committed suicide and that her body was later placed in the furnace.

"I am inclined to believe she killed herself, but because of the apparent impossibility of her getting into the furnace and closing the door upon herself, I believe her body was placed there after she was dead," the coroner said.

Chemist Examines Organs.

Police have given parts of the vital organs, the esophagus, and right lung of the dead woman to a chemist for an expert analysis. Chemists have stated they will be able to tell whether Mrs. Sheatsley breathed after she got into or was placed in the furnace. The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley also has changed his mind about the death of his wife. Yesterday he could not believe she killed herself. Today he believes she did. Yesterday he thought it physically impossible for her to have crawled into the furnace. Today he believes not only that she got into it but that she burned herself to death. The preacher sent for Prosecutor King to tell him of his change of mind. The prosecutor at the time was questioning Harry and Charles Sponseller of Paris, O., brothers of Mrs. Sheatsley.

"Come out to my house," Sheatsley said to the prosecutor, "I've something to tell you."

Prosecutor King hurried to the Sheatsley home. The pastor met him at the door.

"You asked me yesterday," the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley said, "you asked me whether I believed—how I could account for my wife's death. Well, I believe now she committed suicide."

"I am now convinced that my wife crawled into the furnace and burned herself to death."

Might Have Been Insane.

The prosecutor wanted to know why the preacher thought so. The latter replied he had several reasons. One, he said, was a physiological reason which Mrs. Sheatsley's age might cause sudden instability or insanity.

Another was that statements of furnace men had convinced him that it was physically possible for his wife to crawl into the furnace and close the door on herself.

Regarding the pain of such a death, the pastor said that he had spent eight months in India, and while there he learned of the ability of the human body to grow immune to physical pain when the person involved was a victim of religious fanaticism. In this connection, he pointed to "suttee," a custom Hindu women have of casting themselves into funeral pyres on the graves of their husbands.

Believes Suicide Impossible.

Prosecutor King believes it would have been physically impossible for Mrs. Sheatsley to climb in through the small furnace door and lie down to die on the coals. The position of the remains, indicating that the body went in feet first, adds to the prosecutor's conviction.

The prosecutor told the minister this after hearing his suicide theory.

pointing out that the coal hole is only fourteen inches square and that it is thirty inches above the floor. Mr. Sheatsley pointed to a smaller door near the top of the furnace.

"This was open," he said, "she could have grasped it and swung herself in through the hole feet first."

Call 10 Year Old Girl.

"Your little girl, Alice, told us yesterday that she was sure the small door was not open," the prosecutor replied, and suggested calling the 10 year old child in.

"All right," said the minister, "let me question her."

"Alice," said her father when the girl appeared, "didn't you tell me that door was open?" and he pointed to the little upper door. The child replied: "Oh, no, father, it was shut," she said.

But the father thought she was wrong and adhered to his suicide theory.

Following his visit to the parsonage, Prosecutor King resumed his questioning of Charles and Harry Sponseller. Immediately afterward he announced that he will go tomorrow morning to Paris, O., to talk with Mrs. Lydia Sponseller, 80 years old, the mother of Mrs. Sheatsley.

Until March, Mrs. Sponseller had lived with the Sheatsleys. When she returned to Paris, Harris Sponseller told the prosecutor, the aged woman said she could no longer stay with her daughter and her preacher husband.

"Things are not as they should be down there," her son said she told him. "I could tell you a lot if I wanted to."

More Is Sought.

While other investigations continued, Prosecutor King ordered an inquiry into the possibility that Mrs. Sheatsley might have been the victim of a rough looking man, believed to be a scoundrel, who was seen several miles from the Sheatsley home Monday.

The man appeared in the morning at the home of Mrs. George E. Allen, about two miles from the parsonage. He asked Mrs. Allen for an overcoat, and after being refused, he wanted to go into the furnace room. Again refused, he turned and ran down the street.

"He looked crazy to me," Mrs. Allen told police. Officials today were still interested

VALENTINO HERE WITH ANTIQUE SPANISH BEARD

Looking a little fatter and a little sleepier, but very friendly, Rudolph Valentino, with his new beard, and Mrs. Valentino, Miss Nita Naldi, Miss Naldi's postage-stamp-size pup, a press agent, a colored maid, and twenty retainers, stopped in Chicago yesterday for four hours, on their way to California, where Mr. Valentino will be able to express his soul in pictures of his choice under the modest banner of the new Ritz-Carlton company.

It's rather sad to admit that only blast red caps and some reporters were on hand to greet the party. First in importance was the explanation of the beard, which makes The Sheik look like a professional musician. He grew that when he discovered that the Spanish dukes of the fourteenth century all wore them.

The beard is to appear only in the first part of the new picture which Valentino will make in California, with Nita Naldi for his leading lady, in

She alleges she suffered untold agony when one of the bees maliciously stung her on the arm, although she gave it no cause. The complaint says that the bee "did leave home duly incensed because it was recklessly and wantonly abused, harassed, annoyed, and pestered by its owner."

Next in prominence in the party were the mouths of Mrs. Valentino and Miss Naldi. No rouge, but such red lips as the ladies did wear. And Miss Naldi had made up her eyes with a black wax that looked well enough in her picture, but wasn't so pretty in the cold gray light of the train-sheds.

COOLIDGE READS WASTE RIOT ACT TO LUMBERMEN

With Film Shows Useless Forest Depletion.

A tree saved is a tree grown.
CALVIN COOLIDGE.
(To 400 saved lumbermen in convention sitting.)

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—The President of the United States did the most important part of his work today with the aid of a movie.

He talked and let the movie emphasize. "Between cutting, timber in the woods," he said, "and finally putting the product to use, nearly two-thirds of the total volume is lost."

Such a statement the movie later emphasized for Mr. Coolidge by showing unnecessarily thick saws ripping through logs and creating so much sawdust that in a few days veritable hills of sawdust grew up around large mills.

"A third of this loss," said the President, "can, with tried and tested methods, be saved."

Suggests "Armour" Methods.
That statement the movie emphasized by showing how discarded nubs and blocks and strips and sticks of lumber that now are sold by the truckload and for a few cents as kindling can be worked into handles and banisters and a thousand whatnots.

"This third of our losses that can be saved," said the President, "would make a yearly saving nearly as great as all the timber our forests grow each year."

The movie brought that statement home to the President's audience of once carefree but now thoroughly apprehensive lumbermen from forty states and from Canada by showing how laborious and how slow is the back-breaking work of the tree planters who under government auspices are trying to replant vast areas stripped bare by men who had no economic sense nor conscience.

That is what the President was driving at when he said: "A tree saved is a tree grown."

He did not mean that the tree should be left standing. He meant that saws which cut too wide and planes which shave too deep are wasteful and uneconomical and that in their operation on a few logs they destroy the equivalent of a tree that it has taken fifteen or twenty years to grow.

After the President had said that the stupid and unnecessary reduction of

DAVIS OFF TO REST IN EUROPE; "NOBODY CARES," HIS RETORT

New York, Nov. 19.—John W. Davis and his wife sailed on the French liner Paris today for three months of rest and recreation in Mediterranean countries. En route homeward they will visit in London, where Mr. Davis formerly was American ambassador.

The Democratic presidential nominee intended when he returns in February to resume his law practice.

A reporter jokingly accused Mr. Davis of having tried to slip abroad without making known his plans. "No, I didn't," said the lawyer. "I told anybody who was 'out to know.' But nobody appeared to be interested. That shows how soon a man is forgotten."

Huge Drain on Our Forest.
This nation has left, he said, about 745,000,000 cubic feet of timber. The annual drain upon it is 25,000,000,000 cubic feet. Thus a man could figure it out for himself that our loss through unscientific ways of cutting, sawing, dressing, and drying lumber comes to something like 16,666,666,000 cubic feet.

This loss between cutting and finished product amounts to two-thirds of the cut of which, the President pointed out earlier in his address, one-third could be saved by improved methods of preparing timber for the market.

All this, the speaker said, coupled with conscientious neglect of reforestation, has created what he called "the fatal gap between cut and growth."

Unless this fatal gap is bridged it is the government's belief that the nation is out for about forty years from timber exhaustion.

Throughout his address, which ran to nearly 2,000 words, President Coolidge bit relishingly into his favorite subject, which is timber—this time in its bearing on the scandalous methods of the American lumber industry. Hammer and tongs he went after the lumbermen before him, telling them just what they and their predecessors in depredation had done.

In the first place, by overcutting and by they had saddled the nation with 20,000,000 acres of denuded forest land, most of it unfit for farming.

Draws Dantesque Picture.
Then he drew this Dantesque picture: "Much of our cutover land, lying idle or half productive, is now an immeasurable loss."

"It pays little or no taxes, it keeps few hands busy, it turns few wheels, it builds no roads. It has scrapped schools, factories, railroads and towns. It has dotted the land with abandoned farms. It has created a migratory population."

"Appalling waste!"
With pictures of rushing flame and of war desolation the movie emphasized all that for the speaker.

Regging his hearers to remain under no illusion about the future, the President said:

"The era of free, wild timber is reaching its end, as the era of free wild food ended so long ago."

"No longer can you depend on moving from one primeval forest to another."

"Already the sound of the ax has penetrated to the last of them."

"We like to think that it took three centuries to harvest these immense forests. It is comfortable to think that they will last indefinitely. But in reality we have cut most of our timber not in the last 200 but in the last twenty-five years."

That was the remedy?
The President's answer was like him. No remedy, he said, was to be found in "a mere expression of ideas," and continued:

"The government is going to ask you to consider definite plans. It is going to suggest that out of this action shall come specific action rather than a mere expression of ideas."

Case of Slow Thinking.
As for himself, he thought that the remedy for the situation in one of its largest aspects was not far to seek, though laborious enough in execution, and he wondered why a people that had carved an empire out of the forest had never learned to think of the forest as its most heroic crop.

"Strange as it may seem," he said, "the American people, bred for many generations to forest life, drawing no small measure of their wealth from the forest, have not yet acquired the sense of timber as a crop."

"But that way lies salvation."

"When free timber is gone we must grow our wood from the soil like any other crop."

"Our forest problem is a land problem of the first magnitude."

He closed with a word for posterity and a vigorous protest against any threat of monopoly, saying to the lumber barons sitting under the dome of the national museum:

"We hold the resources of our country as a trust. They ought to be used for the benefit of the present generation, but they ought to be neither wasted nor destroyed. The generations to come also have a vested interest in them."

Armour Man Speaks.
The President departed amid tumultuous handclapping and cheers. Vigorously admonishing the lumber barons, he had made them like him. In acknowledging the applause he smiled—sparingly.

In the afternoon, again under the dome, C. H. MacDowell of Chicago, president of the Armour Fertilizer works, took up in specific detail President Coolidge's theme of thrift. His address, "Waste in Industry and Means of Combating It," was packed with concrete illustrations of what thought can do for industry.

$529,719 TO U. S. FROM JUNK OF 11 DREADNAUGHTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Scrapping the eleven super-dreadnaughts discarded under the terms of the naval limitations treaty netted the government only $429,719. It was disclosed by navy department officials tonight.

The estimated cost of these ships if they had been completed was set at $438,000,000.

These figures were disclosed today in the discussion over the destruction of the $18,000,000 Washington, which is to be the mark for naval guns and bombs tomorrow.

The figures were included in a statement giving the data on all the ships affected by the limitations treaty showing tonnage affected, values and the costs of scrapping the discarded ships.

Anticipating Criticism.
While no particular reason was given for making this report public at this time it was indicated that it had been prepared as an answer to certain congressmen who have criticized the department for not scrapping the ships and selling the salvage rather than using certain battleships, such as the Washington, for experimental purposes.

The new vessels embraced in the scrapping list were the battleships Washington, South Dakota, Indiana, Montana, North Dakota, Iowa and Massachusetts, and the battle cruisers

Some "Scrapping" Figures.
The navy has also scrapped sixteen old battleships, from which it received a net sum of only $424,207. The estimated total cost of scrapping its capital ships will be $28,000,000, on the basis of amounts already paid, including the cost of cancellation of contracts. The total amount received is less than $1,500,000 after the necessary expenses are deducted.

It is the opinion of naval officials that the value of the data which will be gathered from the destruction of the Washington off the Virginia capes will be much greater than the small amount which would be obtained by selling the ship as junk.

William B. Shearer, the naval expert, who has tried unsuccessfully in two courts to stop the destruction of the Washington, announced today that he would carry the fight to the United States Supreme court if necessary.

MAHARAJAH PAYS $690,000 FOR GAMBLER'S WIFE

(Chicago Tribune Special News Service.)
LONDON, Nov. 19.—One of the greatest emulations in British court annals was caused today in the king's bench division by an amazing love triangle involving an English bookmaker, his faithless wife, and a mysterious and fabulously wealthy Indian potentate and an alleged badger game plot for $150,000 ($400,000).

Charles Ernest Robinson, former gambler and racetrack bookmaker, brought suit against the Midland bank claiming $125,000 ($375,000) as the balance of the sum of $150,000 which he alleges the bank received for his use but negligently paid to other persons, so he did not receive it.

The bank denies the negligence and alleges that Robinson was mixed up with others in a gigantic blackmail plot involving Mrs. Robinson's relations with a young eastern potentate whose name is carefully guarded.

No Need to Tolerate Gray Hair any Longer

You Can Restore the Former Shade with Kolor-Bak

The clean, colorless liquid, known as Kolor-Bak, has enabled thousands of men and women to take years from their appearance by restoring the original shade to their gray hair.

The following is a letter typical of many written in praise of this remarkable preparation.

"Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray and becoming grayer. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared."

"Only a few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped coming out. It is wonderful of all, however, is that my hair is again its original shade. I am ten years younger. No wonder I'm so thankful for Kolor-Bak."

Authorities state that hair turns gray when for any reason it fails to receive the proper amount of coloring matter from the cells in the scalp. No matter what the cause of the graying, it is amazing to see how quickly Kolor-Bak brings back the former shade. It is the best known substitute for the natural pigmentation.

Kolor-Bak is not sticky, greasy, messy or unpleasant to use. It is just a clean, colorless liquid containing ingredients known to be beneficial to hair and scalp—as easy to use as water. Results often appear in a week.

It not only restores the former shade to the hair; it banishes dandruff, prevents itching of the scalp and stops falling of the hair.

No samples of your hair required—no tests necessary—as this one clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Money back instantly if desired results do not appear.

PEOPLES GAS ON FEET AGAIN WITH OLD DIVIDENDS

Comeback Is Staged by 122 Million Bankrupt.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, which furnishes Chicago with its gas supply, increased the annual dividend rate on its stock yesterday from 7 to 8 per cent by declaration of a quarterly payment of 2 per cent.

This action restores the dividend rate paid before the war. More important, it marks one of the most remarkable "comebacks" in corporate history, the change to prosperity from bankruptcy of a $122,000,000 company. It also means much for several thousand Chicagoans, who as stockholders have seen the value of their shares rise from $27 in 1920 to $117 in yesterday's market.

Revived by Insult.
Five years ago Peoples Gas was virtually bankrupt. In fact, plans for a receivership were formulated, but in a final desperate effort to avert disaster the management turned over to Samuel Insull, guiding genius of Chicago's great public utility, the Commonwealth Edison company.

That was the turning point. With out cash or credit for proper maintenance and extensions, Mr. Insull enlisted eastern capital to build new gas plants and to sell the product of the Chicago company. But it was provided that these plants might be purchased by Peoples Gas if it ever could rehabilitate its finances.

Ship Dividends Till 1923.
In the four years between 1917 and 1923, while the company was getting back on its feet, no dividends were paid, but in 1923 earnings justified a 5 per cent rate. In 1924 the rate was raised to 8 per cent, and this year 7 per cent has been paid. Earnings this year were said to justify the new 8 per cent dividend being better than last year, when nearly 11 per cent was earned on the $38,500,000 capital stock.

But the continued prosperity of Peoples Gas is expected to rebound to the Chicago public as well as to the stockholders. Last year the public benefited by a 5 cent decrease in the price of gas, which meant about $1,500,000 in company revenues.

Hope for New Drop.
It has been the goal of Mr. Insull and the directors to restore the company's property and resound the old dividend rate to stockholders, and thereafter to pass the benefits to the public through lowering gas prices. Therefore it is not unlikely that cheaper gas is in store for Chicago.

The company still holds a two year option to purchase the plants erected by the Koppers company. It is probable the purchase will be announced by sale of additional stock. With the stock now paying 8 per cent, and selling well above par, the privilege of purchasing new stock at par would give another decided benefit to stockholders.

NEGROES FOR JAPANESE.
Three young Negro boys assaulted Ray Karpis in the yards of the Chicago Penitentiary yesterday. They were fined $25 each and a gold watch valued at $50.

BLINDED HERO IS HONOR SENIOR AT U. OF CHICAGO

Surmounts Tragedy of Battlefield.

Records in the dean's office at the University of Chicago yesterday revealed the story of a student who, though deprived of his sight, has won high scholastic honors.

Four years ago Joe Patterson Smith came to the university from the east, where he had been an accountant. The loss of his eye-sight while serving in the Marine corps had made a business life apparently impossible.

Early in the war he enlisted, seeing active service at Chateau Thierry and Belleau Woods. In 1919 he returned to the United States. The next January his division was ordered to quell the Haitian rebellion. It was in an engagement with bandits at Port au Prince that Smith was struck by a bullet and deprived of his sight.

Bride Also a Student.
With his plans to become an accountant shattered, Smith decided to study history, the University of Chicago being his choice.

In June of last year Mr. Smith was married to Miss Alma Mary Churchill, who is also a student in the university. Mrs. Smith, upon graduation in June, expects to work in the graduate school of history with her husband.

After Smith finishes specializing in history he plans to teach the subject in some college, perhaps the University of Chicago.

"I don't think I am any different from other students," he said. "Let me get on with my studies; it's just an inconvenience."

Studies by Dictaphone.
While others are taking notes in class, Smith listens carefully. When he goes home at night he dictates a synopsis of the lectures to a dictaphone, and then in leisure moments transcribes the notes into braille, a method of writing for blind people.

He is now a honor student in history and geography and will be graduated in December. History of the Americas is his favorite study.

For recreation he rides horseback, swims, and does a little wrestling.

Dances Much Better, Is Word from His Doctors.
"A restful night and a comfortable day," was the phrase used yesterday to describe the condition of Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Vice President-elect, who is convalescent in the Evanston hospital. The coming Vice President is happy and ambitious to be up and around again, his physician says.

WED 18 MONTHS, WIFE ACCUSED BY L. J. MANDEL

Merchant Sues for Divorce.

Leonard J. Mandel yesterday brought suit for divorce in the superior court against his wife of eighteen months, Mrs. Julia Cunningham Mandel of Washington, D. C. Mr. Mandel is a member of the firm of Mandel Bros.

The suit, filed by Attorney Louis Althelm, charges infidelity, and names Charles Lovejoy, who now also resides in Washington, as co-respondent.

The Mandels' marriage took place on April 4, 1923, at the Drake hotel, the ceremony being performed by Superior Judge Jacob Hopkins, now chief justice of the Criminal court. Mr. Mandel, in the divorce bill, asserts his wife was unfaithful several months ago, and that immediately on his learning of it they separated.

Mrs. Mandel's Washington counsel, William J. Dow, wired to Attorney Charles E. Erbein here, retaining him to defend the suit. It was learned Mr. Erbein intimated he would soon file a cross-bill for separate maintenance and an answer denying the charges of infidelity.

MISS NORMAND LOSES NEW POINT IN HER LIBEL SUIT

Los Angeles, Nov. 18.—Mabel Normand's $500,000 libel suit against Mrs. Georgia W. Church was quashed in superior court here today when Judge Hartley Shaw upheld the defendant's demurrer and ruled that the motion picture actress had no legal right to seek libel damages on the ground that Mrs. Church, in suing her wealth, husband for divorce, had referred to his alleged behavior with Miss Normand.

Counsel for Miss Normand announced that he would appeal the case. It was Judge Shaw's second ruling against the screen actress. Last week he denied her motion to intervene in the Church divorce suit.

The portion of Mrs. Church's complaint to which Miss Normand took exception quoted Norman Church, a saying that the actress had entered his room in a hospital here clad only in a nightgown, had given him flowers and had threatened to tell him "naughty stories" if he "did not keep quiet."

RED PARTY WARS ON TROTSKY AS HE GAINS POWER

Covets Dictatorship of Russia, Charge.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)
RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 19.—Leon Trotsky, soviet war minister, is being subjected to heavy attacks in Moscow by the political bureau of the Communist party, which is accusing him of attempting to seize the dictatorship made vacant by the death of Nikolai Lenin. Practically the entire Communist party is lined up against M. Trotsky.

The leading bolshevik editors, MM. Stachow, Radet, and Bukharin, are asking the Communists whether they want "Trotskyism or Leninism."

Despite the confutation of two of his latest books and daily attacks by Communist papers, M. Trotsky continues to be the most popular figure in Russia. Because of the intensity of the newspaper attacks and also because of widespread reports of serious unrest, Baltic diplomats believe critical events are impending in Russia.

St. Russia Against Esthonia.

Under the heading "A Red Serenade" Esthonian papers report that for the last two days bands have been standing in rows before the Esthonian consulate in Moscow playing the "Internationale" and other revolutionary hymns. When a sufficiently large crowd gathered, officers of the Third Internationale inform the assembly of how 148 Esthonian Communists in Riga are facing trial "before Esthonian murderers who have already shot three Communists."

The editor of the Leningrad Pravda, M. Safaroff—one of the alleged murderers of the czar and his family—discussing the Riga trial, writes that at present the world is under the rule of reactionary bourgeoisie. M. Safaroff also pays his respects to President Coolidge and links him with the Ku Klux Klan, "which is the criminal organization of the bourgeois terrorists of America."

Also Attacks Baldwin.

After paying similar compliments to Prime Minister Baldwin, Premier Mussolini, and others, M. Safaroff concludes:

"Down with Esthonia and other governments of murderers. Long live the dictatorship of the proletariat."

The same paper contains a letter signed by M. Zinoviet, president of the Third Internationale, who asks Communists all over the world to telegraph letters of protest to the proletariat of Esthonia demanding the immediate release of imprisoned Communists, who total more than 200.

RANCHERS STILL HOLD AQUEDUCT AS JUDGE QUILTS

Independence, Cal., Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The restraining order commanding Owens valley ranchers who Sunday seized the Los Angeles aqueduct to release the city's property and cease interfering with the water supply was vacated today by the judge who issued it Monday.

Immediately following his action the judge, Judge William D. Deby, telegraphed to Gov. Friend W. Richardson asking him to appoint another judge as he (Judge Deby) was convinced that he was not qualified to hear the case.

The vacated restraining order was never enforced, Sheriff Collins maintaining that any attempt to forcibly eject the army of occupiers which still remains in possession of the Alabama waste gates would result in bloodshed and civil war in the valley.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—The Horrible Example

Elmer Visits Radio Show Via His Dials

Then Takes In Many Programs.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

At W-G-N's studio at the Coleman this listener was as surprised as well as pleased to hear the name of Catharine Wide Smith, violinist, announced to play the "Cradle Song," by Schubert.

Last Monday we accredited this artist as providing the tour de force on the Chicago Musical college Sunday afternoon concert.

To make any evening complete, at least one solid concert program is required, and this we found at KTW between 8 and 9. We have been getting some fine things from this station recently. Last night, Harold O'Brien, violinist, somehow seemed to transcend the ordinary, both in his playing and his selections. The male voices of the Four Legionnaires could only be heard in a well sung number.

Immediately turning to WLS, I found an announcer stating that they were now switching us to the Coleman. In a second, a voice was heard saying faintly, "All right, is your 'mike' ready?" Then a sentence with a cuss word in it, a generator hum, and the familiar husky voice of "Helo," and George Hay, "Helo," everybody, this is WLS, Chicago, broadcasting from the Coleman. Ford and Glenn were announced, but we had to be on our way.

The night's play at WMAQ contained a novelty—carols sung by a troop of Girl Scouts connected with the Salvation Army.

IRELAND MOURNS CARDINAL LOGUE, 'GRAND OLD MAN'

Was Sick Only a Day; 84 Years of Age.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] BELFAST, Nov. 19.—Cardinal Logue, who was taken suddenly ill yesterday at his residence in Armagh, died this morning without regaining consciousness. He will be buried Tuesday.

The cardinal celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday a month ago. He was the son of a small merchant in County Donegal and became a priest fifty-eight years ago. He was made bishop of Raphoe in 1879, a primate in 1887, and a cardinal twenty-one years ago, being the first of 108 Irish primates of Armagh since St. Patrick to receive the red hat.

The "grand old man of Ireland" retained a wonderful vitality until the end, but he was disheartened beyond measure by divisions, politically and otherwise, among the Irish people in recent years. He was beloved by Protestant and Catholic alike, and when the new Armagh cathedral was consecrated a carriage of the late Protestant primate, Dr. Alexander Lent, conveyed parties of the cardinal's guests from the station.

DENIES THREATS TO LIVINGSTON; SHE ASKED CASH

Miss Buell Testifies on Her Visits.

New York, Nov. 19.—Miss Muriel Buell, on trial for disorderly conduct, testified today in Tombs court of her relations with Jefferson Livingston, millionaire "Ketchup King," and turkman, prior to the recent episode in a Wall street office which caused her arrest on Livingston's complaint.

She denied she forced entry to Livingston's presence, frightened an office boy with talk about a pistol, or threatened to "blow his (Livingston's) head off," if he didn't consider her demands for money. She denied further that her unexpected appearance had broken up a party which the sportsman, then staying at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Explains the Auto Incident. Replying to Livingston's testimony that she had boarded his automobile in a traffic jam, compelling him to flee, Miss Buell said she merely entered the car and sat there after Livingston left, waiting for her own machine to pick her up.

"I believed that if I had an opportunity to talk with him I could settle this matter," she said.

Made Settlement for $12,500. She testified concerning her suit in Westchester county courts to compel Livingston to fulfill an alleged agreement to pay her $1,750 a month for life in lieu of keeping a promise to marry her. This action, she said, was settled last September for $12,500 cash. Her recent attempts to see Livingston, she said, were prompted by a desire to confer with him over $30,000 to $40,000 of debts she had incurred, for which the creditors were suing her and him jointly while subpoena servers caught her "almost every day," with papers in new suits.

CHICAGO'S IMPROVED A BIT IN 30 YEARS, SIR HENRY LUNN FINDS

Sir Henry Lunn of London, who spoke yesterday at a joint luncheon of the Methodist social union and the Chicago Methodist ministers' meeting at the Hotel La Salle, said that when he visited Chicago thirty years ago he was sure that Stead's description of Chicago as "hell with the lid off" was true, but he was certain Chicago had improved greatly since then.

Now I find Michigan avenue one of the most impressive avenues in the world.

Sir Henry warned his Methodist auditors not to go so far toward church unity as to invite into federation those who do not believe in the deity of Christ.

"I have no hope in the political world of military alliances," he said. "We may have to scrap the league of nations, but we ought to have some association in which Germany and the United States may be included."

DROP CONTEMPT CASE AGAINST BEN NEWMARK

Petitions for contempt of court against Ben Newmark, former assistant state fire marshal, and Dave Earsman, Chicago gangster, were stricken from the docket of the Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday.

The petitions grew out of their refusal to testify before the Lake county grand jury in an investigation of an alleged attempt to fix the jury that tried and acquitted Gov. Small.

The case against William J. Riley, Antioch saloonkeeper, indicted for conspiracy in the same case, was also dismissed.

Several days ago Newmark was arrested on United States warrants charging him with counterfeiting.

U. S., GERMANY AGAINST BRITAIN IN WAR ON OPIUM

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune/Tribune News Service.)

GENEVA, Nov. 19.—America submitted tonight the "Porter plan" for stamping out the illegal use of drugs to the forty odd powers represented here at the league of nations conference on opium.

Bishop Charles A. Brent in a stirring speech warned the gathering that public opinion was getting tired of waiting for governments to place opium, heroin, and other drugs under control.

Referring by inference to the enormous trade in opium carried on by the British empire in India, China, and the far east, the huge business of exporting in coas leaves from Peru and Bolivia and the immense industry developed by civilized nations for the manufacture of morphine, heroin, and cocaine, Bishop Brent said:

"Let us be frank—the crux is money. Eliminate the economic difficulties and the rest is easy. A reduction of pro-

ELIHU ROOT JEALOUS OF DEPEW'S 90 YEARS, CHANCEY DECLARES

New York, Nov. 19.—Elihu Root introduced Chauncey M. Depew at a luncheon of the Pilgrim society today by saying that "there is a long history of rivalry between the two states in Peekskill and Chauncey Depew." The latter countered with the observation that there is always jealousy in old-age statistics and added that "Elihu Root will not be 90 for three months, whereas I will be 90 in five months."

The luncheon was in honor of Mr. Depew, who has been its president for seven years. Sir Edna Howard, the British ambassador, was the only other speaker.

"Let us be frank—the crux is money. Eliminate the economic difficulties and the rest is easy. A reduction of production and manufacture means economic loss."

Replying to contentions at former conferences by delegates of those countries engaged in trafficking in deadly drugs that it was humane and necessary to continue the supply of drugs to addicts and that natives of China, India, and countless other countries could not work without these stimulants, Bishop Brent said:

"Representatives of China are asking why profits received from the sale of opium in such countries where the sale is legalized cannot be used to combat the victims of addiction. This question must be answered frankly by the countries claiming that their traffic is not practiced for the purpose of making revenue."

CHARGE EFFORT TO PACK A JURY IN ROCK ISLAND

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 19.—A new turn came today in the notorious Looney murder case, which was reopened last week by the complaint filed by Anthony Billburg and George Holsapple charging John W. Potter, John M. Callahan, Jacob Ramser, and Thomas Haage with complicity in the crime of murdering John Looney Jr. on Oct. 5, 1923, in the Market square shooting alley.

A motion was filed by Billburg and Holsapple to exclude from the grand jury, called to meet today, Harry H. Cleveland and W. F. Bradley. The motion says the two men were put on the jury to prevent the indictment of those charged in the complaint with being the real murderers and instigators of the murder of Looney.

The motion recites that Harry H. Cleveland was, by the complaint filed last week by Billburg and Holsapple, charged with being a party to the murder and subject to indictment; that the relations between Cleveland and Bradley with the defendants were such that they were incapable of acting as fair and impartial jurors, and that Cleveland was a member of the so-called citizens' vice committee, which "sought to prevent indictment of the guilty."

In the affidavit filed with the motion the causes for the exclusion of Cleveland and Bradley are elaborated, and the statement was made that in the investigation of the murder of Looney the attorney general, through his assistant, Thomas Marshall of Chicago, "by illegal, improper, and coercive means with numerous grand jurors" has prevented the indictment of the defendants.

FOOD PRICES STILL GOING UP, OCTOBER SURVEY TELLS U. S.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—A sharp upward turn in the general level of wholesale prices and continued increase in retail food prices during October were reported today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. Wholesale prices in the various commodity groups showed an average gain of 2 per cent for the month, while food prices at the retail counter in fifty-one cities increased on an average of 1.13 per cent.

Farm products, with 4 per cent, led all commodities in the wholesale price advance. Foods showed an advance of 2.5 per cent, while other groups recording an increase included clothing and miscellaneous commodities, as fuel and lighting materials. Metals and house furnishing goods averaged lower than the month before, while building materials were stationary.

MRS. EVANS' FOE SEIZES CHIEF OF HER AVENGERS

Mexico City, Nov. 19.—[By the Associated Press.]—Enemies growing out of the case of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, who was assassinated last August, and for whose murder two men last week were sentenced to death, have culminated in disorders in the Huejutzingo district, state of Puebla. Agrarian forces under Gen. Manuel Montes are reported to be holding prisoner Gen. Honorato Teutli, mayor of Cholula, and his brother, Manuel. Gen. Felipe Gonzalez is reported to have been wounded in a clash between state troops and armed agrarians. Teutli was inspector general of the Puebla investigation into the murder of Mrs. Evans and rounded up more than seventy agrarians for alleged connection with the crime. All were released.

It was stated when the wholesale arrest of agrarians was made that Gen. Teutli was trying to capture Gen. Montes on the ground that the assassination of Mrs. Evans was the culmination of a six year campaign to appropriate her hacienda by agrarians, of whom Montes was the leader.

WU HAS 20,000; AFTER 200,000 AGAINST PEKING

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.) SHANGHAI, Nov. 19.—Marshal Wu Peifu, betrayed commander of the Chihli forces in China's latest civil war, issued a statement in Hankow today explaining that his immediate purpose was to raise 200,000 troops in the Yangtze provinces for the purpose of moving on Peking and ousting Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, Christian general, and Chang Tso-lin, Manchurian warlord, who are dominating the national capital.

Marshal Wu left Hankow this morning with 20,000 troops in the direction of Wuchang, his old headquarters. He says he has the backing of the eight Yangtze provinces, both for the establishment of a new capital at Wu-chang and in furnishing troops for a peking offensive.

Marshal Wu says there is no cause for alarm in central China, as all the fighting will be in the north, near Peking.

SUN IN JAPAN

BY RODERICK MATTHESON. [Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.) TOKIO, Nov. 19.—Sun Yat-sen, leader of the south China government, arrived at Shinjokichi tonight en route to Tientsin. He has decided to remain in Japan several days for conversations, according to the foreign office. No arrangements were made to greet him officially, but numerous Japanese are taking advantage of the presence of the Canton leader to discuss Sino-Japanese questions. Sun says he desires a rapprochement to representations by his chief of staff, Gen. Li Li-ching, who recently visited Tokyo and who reported that it would be advisable for his chief to visit Japan personally to strengthen the friendship already felt for him in that country.

CARR'S SYSTEM WITH CITY COIN HAS COUNCIL O. K.

An overwhelming majority in the city council yesterday disapproved the plan of Ald. C. S. Eaton (8th) to force a legal accounting from County Treasurer Carr of collected taxes not yet paid to the city.

Ald. Eaton charged that Treasurer Carr is pocketing more than $1,000,000 in interest to the city's share of the taxes without interference from City Controller M. J. O'Brien because of their political affiliations.

Only two aldermen—Arthur Albert (44d) and Wiley W. Mills (37th) supported Ald. Eaton's demand that Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch institute suits at once to enforce statutes requiring the county treasurer to distribute the collected taxes every thirty days. Forty-three aldermen took more than an hour to eulogize Carr and O'Brien before a roll call showed Eaton's proposal down.

The Man Nobody Knows

A LITTLE BOY sat in Sunday school, thirty years ago, and looked at three pictures on the wall. One of them showed Daniel in the lions' den. The boy liked Daniel. He liked David, too. David was a fighter . . .

But the third picture showed a pale young man, with flabby forearms and a meek, sad expression. The young man had red whiskers.

Sunday was this man's day; it was wrong to feel happy or to laugh on Sunday.

Years went by, and the Sunday school boy grew up and became a business man. He got to wondering about Jesus. He said to himself:

"It is strange that a leader who is represented as such a weakling should have had such an influence. Only strong, magnetic men inspire great enthusiasm and build great organizations. Yet he built the greatest organization of all."

And so the man wiped his mind clean of pictures of Jesus. He began to read what the men who knew Jesus personally said about him. The result is amazing.

Was Jesus a weakling? He pushed a plane, swung an ax. He was a successful carpenter. He slept outdoors whenever he could. He could face a furious mob, and overawe every man in it.

A kill-joy? He was the most popular dinner guest in Jerusalem. He was criticised largely because he spent so much time with publicans and sinners and because he enjoyed society too much.

A failure? He picked up twelve ordinary men and forged them into an organization that conquered the world.

Some day, said the business man to himself, there will be a book about the real Jesus. But no book came. The man grew impatient, and wrote it himself. It begins in the December number of the Woman's Home Companion.

Once in a great while some magazine secures a really great contribution. It cannot always be foreseen. Authors may fail; editors may not recognize greatness in manuscript.

But this contribution, which you can begin reading today, has had an electric effect on everyone who has seen it. People expect much from its author; but now he has excelled himself. People expect much from the Companion. But this time the Companion has secured the most extraordinary book of our day.

Its title is "The Man Nobody Knows." Its appearance in the Woman's Home Companion at this time is one more proof that this magazine is consistently just a little bit ahead.

UNITE TO END WAR, BRITISH PLEA TO LABOR

BY THOMAS WREN.

St. Paul, Tenn., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Delegates from European countries addressed today's session of the forty-fourth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

A. B. Swales, president of the British Trade Union congress, appealed for a union of organized labor of both the new and old worlds to prevent war. He pointed out that the brute of all war had to be borne by the laboring classes.

His at Communists.

"Russia presents the problem of all western peoples," C. T. Cramp, chairman of the executive committee of the British Labor party, told the convention. "But in a country of 120,000,000 you cannot ignore it or its vast resources. The bolshevik regime is repugnant to us, but the Russian people never before its advent had the opportunity of reform."

"We have nothing but contempt for the communists in our own ranks. If they were allowed to prevail the world would become a human menagerie where the law of tooth and claw would prevail. No known communist is allowed leadership in the British labor party and they are gradually being eliminated as a political factor."

John Colburn, delegate from Canada, explained the Canadian situation among workmen and urged closer union of labor.

Peter Grassman, vice president of the German Federation of Trade Unions, speaking for the workers of his country, pledged support of the Dawson plan for reparations adjustments. In the execution of the plan lies Germany's most promising pathway to the pre-war economic basis and lasting peace, he said.

Back Postal Workers.

The federation unanimously approved a resolution asking increases for federal postal workers. It was asked that a bill authorizing the desired increase be passed in the coming short congressional session.

Support of citizens' military training camps was given by a score of organizations in a resolution. The opposition of the federation to war except in defense of the nation was stressed.

Marble Makes This a Perfect Shrine

The finest monuments of Greece were of Pentelic marble. And every age has created great works of sculpture and architecture in this chaste, gleaming stone.

The Rosehill Mausoleum is built of the finest marble procurable, that it might be as beautiful as it is everlasting. From the mausoleum rotunda and chapel to the farthest burial compartments, the faintly translucent purity of marble, chiseled into simple classic forms of decoration, makes Rosehill Mausoleum a great consolation to the living—a great tribute to the dead.

An ample Trust Fund, constantly increasing, assures perfect care, and a Perpetual Charter assures the present location forever.

There are a limited number of Memorial Rooms available, also single crypts, arranged in groups of two, three, four or more; and family sections containing five compartments.

We invite you to view the beauty of Rosehill Mausoleum. Cards of admission will be issued at the cemetery entrance. Telephone either office for further information.

HOT FIGHT SEEN FOR PRESIDENT OF STATE SENATE

May Lead to Governor's Chair, View.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

With Illinois facing the possibility that the president pro tempore of the new state senate will be the next governor as a result of the treasury suits against Gov. Len Small, more importance than ever before in the state's history is attached to the coming contests for control of the new assembly. The fight centers in the maneuvers to control the Republican organization of the senate. The showdown comes at Springfield on Jan. 6, the night before the new legislature convenes. But the battle may not end there. Developments since Master in Chancery Briggs reported his findings in the treasury suits indicate that a dozen or more Republican senators may bolt the caucus if any high handed methods to grasp control are attempted by the administration.

Bipartisan Control Possible.

With the Republicans holding thirty-seven seats in the senate only nineteen votes are required to control the Republican caucus. But there are fourteen Democrats in the upper house and a combination of these and twelve Republicans would give the necessary twenty-six votes for bi-partisan control.

One Republican senator declared yesterday that the question of organization has gone beyond the pale of party regularity and fealty with the state facing such governmental confusion. Senator Thurlow G. Esington (Rep., La Salle), who led the primary fight against Small last spring as a candidate for governor, probably will be the choice of the anti-Small Republican senators for president pro tem. Esington is being pushed as the logical senator around whom the anti-administration Republicans should rally.

G. O. P. Senators Meet Dec. 6. The thirty-seven Republican senators meet in Chicago Dec. 6 at the customary luncheon that follows victory at the polls. As a general matter, the first steps in senate organization are taken at this pre-session gathering. The luncheon will be held at the Palmer house, with Senators Barbour and MacMurray of Chicago, both anti-administration senators, as hosts.

A number of Republican senators heretofore classed as friends of the administration are said by their colleagues to be wavering as a result of the master's ruling which held Small accountable for interest earnings on public funds while he was state treasurer (1917-1919).

Two Chicago lawyers, Patrick H. O'Donnell and Chester Cleveland, former assistant corporation counsel during the Lundin-Thompson regime in the city hall, have been retained by Gov. Small, it was learned yesterday.

TWO CHICAGOANS INJURED AS LINER BATTLES STORM

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Four passengers, two of them from Chicago, were injured in the severe hurricane that lashed and beat the Cunard liner Aurania on Nov. 12, it was disclosed on the vessel's arrival today.

Michael McHugh of Chicago and Mrs. A. W. Woodman, also of Chicago, each sustained a fractured nose. George Taylor of Brooklyn, and Miss Doris Michelson of Taftville, Conn., were also hurt, the former spraining his ankle and the latter suffering a scalp wound.

Capt. Reginald V. Peel described the storm as the worst of his career. It lasted for twenty-one hours and the wind raged at ninety miles an hour while the ship fought a confused and terrific sea.

I. C. SIGNS PACTS FOR ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT, CARS

First of New Trains to Run About July, 1926.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Electrification of the Illinois suburban service came another full step closer yesterday when the company awarded contracts for $2,350,000 worth of equipment.

Unless something unforeseen happens trains will be running under electric power before July 1, 1926. The contracts let yesterday were for 150 motor cars to the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company and for eighty-five trailers to the Standard Steel Car company. The contract for electric control equipment let for the installation of the systems was given to the General Electric company and that for part of the motor equipment was given the General Electric and part to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Tracks Are Prepared.
President C. H. Markham said the Illinois Central has completed grade revision on the lake front. That means the tracks are in the place in which they will be utilized in electric operation.

Three days ago announcement was made that the Commonwealth Edison company had been awarded the contract for electric current for ten years. The contracts awarded yesterday provide that the deliveries of cars and electric equipment shall start March 1, 1926, and shall be completed by July 1 of that year. These cars, save for the electric equipment, will be similar to the forty-five purchased during the last three years, now hauled by steam engines.

To Start New Method in July, 1926.
By July 1, 1926, Mr. Markham says to his statement, "It is expected that the balance of the electric project will be far enough along to permit beginning of electric power operation."

That will be at least six months in advance of the requirements of the ordinances obtained from the city and the south park commissioners.

The first step in the program, that for which contracts were let yesterday and previously awarded, provides for the electrification of the suburban service not only on the main line as far as Michigan but also on the South Chicago and Blue Island branches.

Within two years after the suburban service is taken out of smoke and cinders all of the service north of Roosevelt road is to be treated likewise. Then, under prescribed conditions, electrification of the through passenger service will follow.

Kammerer's Trial Dec. 1 as Killer of 4; No Defense

John Kammerer, charged with having killed four persons in the Elmhurst six months ago, will go to trial on Dec. 1, without a single defense witness. Such was the statement made to Judge John K. Newhall of Wheaton yesterday by Attorney Charles Hadley and Karlton Fisher, who have been appointed to defend Kammerer. "We'd like to withdraw from the case," Mr. Hadley said. Judge Newhall refused. Kammerer, who is accused of having killed Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eder and their two children in the Elmhurst home last July by beating them to death with a hammer.

HELD TO JURY IN WIFE'S DEATH.
John Sarge, 100 Hill street, believed to have been indirectly responsible for the death of his wife, Nancy, when he terrorized her and she fell dead several weeks ago, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $25,000 on a charge of assault.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. The Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. Six and twelve.

MUSTEROLE
Better than a mustard plaster.

BRITISH CHIEF IN SUDAN SHOT BY CAIRO GUNMEN

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 19.—[By the Associated Press.]—Six or more gunmen, using both bombs and automatic pistols, attacked in the streets of Cairo today Maj. Gen. Sir Lee Stack, aide of the Egyptian army, in whose person is combined the highest civil and military positions in the Sudan.

Three bullets hit Gen. Stack as he was being driven in an automobile from the war ministry down the Sharia Kasr-el-Aini. The spot chosen by the assassins for their attack was within a few yards of the place where, two years ago, two British subjects, Messrs. Brown and Robson, were murdered. Premier Zagloul, after visiting the wounded man, hurried to the palace and informed the king, who, he said, was greatly moved. The premier declared the government would leave nothing undone to bring the perpetrators to justice. In a communique, he appealed to the public to aid the authorities.

EDITH GOULD'S STOCKINGS SEEN IN PARIS COURT

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Edith Kelly

Gould's silk stockings came up in the courts for inspection today. Edith, however, was not in them. It was only a solemn discussion among attorneys who asked a postponement of litigation regarding the stockings until after Edith appeals her claims to a share in the estate of her millionaire divorced husband, Frank J. Gould.

The stockings in question were 3,700 francs worth bought in 1917 and 1918 and also sixty-three various colored pairs bought for use during October, 1917, from the fashionable hosiery, Chatelet, in Paris. Since her divorce suit was still pending Edith sent a bill to her husband and when he refused payment the hosiery firm filed suit against both.

Since the lower court's verdict denied Edith's property claim the stocking bill was also denied, and she asked permission to postpone the hearing regarding the stockings until the Versailles court verdict on the property. The request was granted.

KLAN QUERY TO MURDER JUROR CAUSES BATTLE

Tuscola, Ill., Nov. 19.—The Ku Klux

Klan became a storm center in the Douglas county circuit court in the selection of a jury to try Harley Campbell, Leonard Campbell, and Lee Benkin for the murder of Sherman Denny. "Are you a member of the Ku Klux Klan?" State's Attorney Robert Cotten inquired of the second talesman examined, Andrew Elders, of Villa Grove. Instantly Judge Franklin H. Boggs interposed an objection and ruled that the question as to whether or not the talesman was a member of any specific organization was improper.

Later, Judge Boggs ruled permitting use of the question, but warned the state's attorney he would not permit the matter to go too far. He also cautioned that persistence in asking the question as to whether or not a man was a member of the Klan would prejudice the state's side of the case.

COLLECT BACK TAXES, COUNTY LEADERS TOLD

Lack of funds, crippling administrative boards of the county townships, can be remedied if the town officers will force collection of delinquent taxes, it was declared yesterday by Hubert W. Butler of Glenview, a tax expert, at a meeting of the Cook County Township Highway Commissioners and Good Roads association.

"Delinquent taxes in Cook county amount to more than $10,000,000," Mr. Butler said. "Collection can be forced through action of the township authorities."

A complete cleanup of delinquent taxes in New Trier township, Mr. Butler declared, had provided funds the interest from which paid the expenses of the town last year.

County Commissioner William Busse, president of the association, appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of collecting the delinquent taxes.

BANDITS SHOOT WAY OUT OF BANK WITH $35,000 LOOT

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—

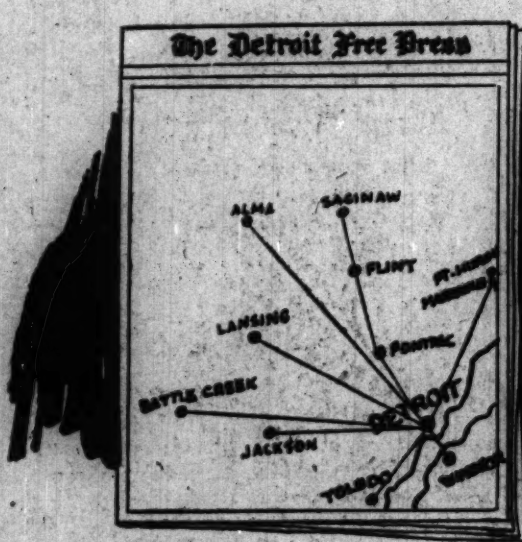

Six bank robbers, who shot their way through resistance after holding up the Farmington State Savings bank at Farmington today and escaped with $30,000 in cash and $5,000 in bonds, are being hunted on every road and byway in Wayne county tonight.

Sixty automobiles, carrying deputy sheriffs from Wayne and Oakland counties and farmers and tradesmen, armed with shotguns and rifles, halted every car on the road for hours.

A sedan in which the robbers escaped from Farmington was recovered on Telegraph road. The robbers abandoned the car when it ran out of gasoline and continued their flight in a smaller car.

The abandoned machine was riddled by bullets and stained with blood, indicating that at least one of the gunmen was wounded in the fusillade which followed them as they left the bank.

Ninety-eight per cent of the retailers in this great market are Free Press readers, and can be reached thoroughly by no other medium.

Buying Definite Circulation to Homes

WHILE the circulation of The Free Press has trebled in eleven years, that fact is not so significant as is the great home-reaching, home-influencing characteristics of that circulation. For instance, 98.8% of the home-delivered circulation of The Free Press remains in the home—76% of the entire circulation is concentrated within 25 miles of the center of Detroit, covering the BETTER TYPES of all classes. Its influence is unequalled on Boston Boulevard, where its coverage is 98%, or at the plant of the Ford Motor Company, where 6,150 copies are sold at the factory gates alone each day.

Secretary Wants to Sell
Wilson Dam Power.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Senators who favored the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals are seeking the aid of western senators for a compromise government plan of operation for the properties to be submitted to congress.

At the same time Secretary Weeks is taking steps to ascertain the scope of his authority to contract for the temporary disposition of power generated at the plant, should congress fail to make final disposition of the properties prior to completion of Wilson dam next July.

Plant Might Lie Idle.
Should congress fail to dispose of the question and should the secretary find himself without authority to lease the output of the plants, they would lie idle.

Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.) has submitted a government operation plan, and leading advocates of the Ford bid, convinced that Mr. Ford has withdrawn from the competition, are seeking a plan having features of the Norris proposal, but considerably amended.

Secretary Weeks has asked Maj. Gen. Hull, judge advocate general of the army, to furnish him with an opinion as to his powers in handling the properties. If that opinion should hold that he has no authority to make temporary contracts for power with near-by power companies, he probably will ask congress to confer the authority on him if it should appear that Muscle Shoals legislation will not be completed.

Companies Want Power.
While there may be some difficulty in finding companies willing to make short term leases for all the power developed, nearby power companies are known to be prepared to take a large part of it.

Secretary Weeks conferred today with Elton H. Hooker of New York, who has been at work for some time on a proposal for the creation of a gigantic chemical and industrial plant at Muscle Shoals. The conference was one of a series which have been held by the two during the last year. It was said that Mr. Hooker hoped to have his proposal in shape for submission to congress at the forthcoming session.

Wrecked Plane Seen in Sea,
but 3 Axiators Missing
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
THE HAGUE, Nov. 19.—No word has been received yet regarding the missing Portuguese aviator Cabral, who was in command of a flotilla of three Fokker machines flying to Lisbon from Amsterdam. A Dutch naval air squad is searching for the missing pilot. The wreckage of his plane has been found in the North sea.

JAZZ AGE IS CUTTING SHORT FLAPPER'S LIFE, EDUCATORS ARE TOLD

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Enjoyment of the freedom so vigorously demanded by modern young women is probably shortening their lives, Dr. Eugene Lyman Platt, director of the Life Extension Institute, intimated tonight in an address before the American Educational Conference and Exposition.

Statistics prove, he said, that women between the ages of 17 and 33 are now retarding extension of the span of life. "These young women," Dr. Platt stated, "do not show as good a health record as their brothers. They must study more carefully their habits of living and must avoid such injurious indulgences as cigarette smoking, late hours, and loss of sleep; must give attention to exercise, fresh air, and properly balanced diet."

"The overconfident, self-sufficient young person who thinks she can set up her own ideals and standards and disregard the fundamental ethics of living should have this situation plainly laid before her—a warning that the price of this freedom may be higher than she cares to pay."

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and according to the mortality statistics this freedom pudding does not eat well."

Win-Heart Balm Suit

Two verdicts, each for $10,000 damages, were won in the Circuit court yesterday, one by a husband, the other by a wife. Each charged alienation of affections. Lyle Rottsch, 2419 North Lincoln street, won his suit against William S. Marston, 3295 Kenwood avenue. The other verdict was directed against Miss Fannie W. Le Vieby, named by Mrs. Eva Brownstein, 3255 West Roosevelt road. Mrs. Brownstein agreed to settle for $2,000.

ILLINOISIANS AT SHOALS; STUDY ECONOMIC VALUE

Find One Plant Busy and Others Idle.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Sheffield, Ala., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Two striking contrasts were presented today to 175 members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association as they began a two days' inspection of the great Muscle Shoals power project.

They were taken from Sheffield, in open government railroad cars, just deserted villages grown with weeds, past piles of rusting pipes and boilers, past foundations of houses that were never built to the door of the Muscle Shoals power plant, under lease to the Alabama Power company. Here every thing was in full hum and the floor shook with the throb of giant engines as power was generated to shoot out over a network of lines in the south-east.

U. S. Spends $1,575,000.
Since November, 1921, they learned, this plant has generated by use of 100,000 tons of coal 102,592,000 kilowatt hours and has spent $1,575,000 in operation and maintenance. And this is only one auxiliary unit of the whole project.

In the next place, nitrate plant No. 2, they were met with immediate silence. The largest liquid air plant in the world is not being used. This is the beginning of the nitrate making process. Air is sucked into the plant, washed and cleaned of dust and smoke, and compressed to a point that produces liquid nitrogen. It goes through other plants and comes out a mile away in the brown crystal that forms part of the explosive needed for war. But there is no war.

CANADA AND U. S. PROGRESSING IN WATERWAY DEAL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Quick settlement of the differences between the United States and Canada over the instructions to be given the enlarged joint engineering board appointed to investigate the engineering aspects of the St. Lawrence seaway project was predicted by government officials today.

As the same time it was announced by members of the United States St. Lawrence commission, which was appointed by the President in an advisory capacity, that their study of the waterways project thus far revealed it was not only feasible financially but economically sound.

It was predicted that the moving to the country through the opening of the waterway from the great lakes to the sea would within a few years repay the entire cost of the project.

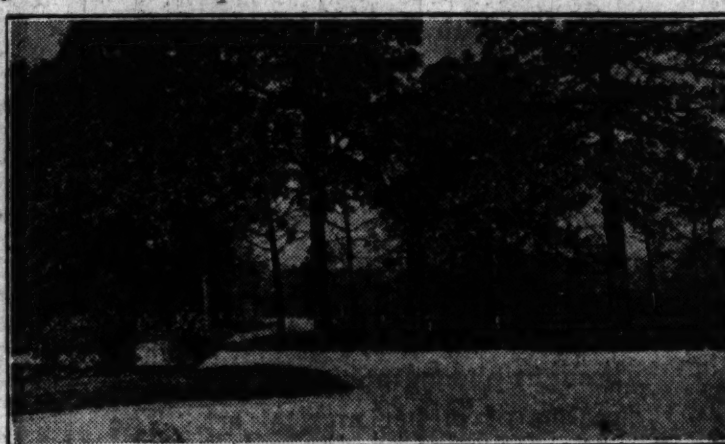

Water diversions from the great lakes both by the United States and Canada have caused the differences thus far.

Persian Premier Sends
Apology to U. S. Mission
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TEHRAN, Persia, Nov. 19.—At the request of the minister of finance, Premier Sardar Sepah has wired the chief of staff here instructing him to apologize to the American financial mission for placing an officer at the treasurer's door to enforce certain payments. However, he also was instructed to warn the mission against a repetition of its action in delaying a necessary payment.

The immense natural wealth here, blue resources, united with this super power plant may make this district a sort of American Ruhr, these men believe. Power developed here cheaply can be sent 1,000 miles, it is stated. It means a new southeast, new markets. How the millions spent can be salvaged, and this new power put in tune with new industrial competition, is the great question.

SIX PERSONS SAY FULTON TOLD OF FIGHT FRAMEUP

BULLETIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—(By United News.)—Six persons who say Fulton confessed that he intended to fake his fight with Tony Fuente Monday night have been located by the district attorney's office, according to Chief Deputy Buron Fitts. Names of the witnesses were not divulged, but it was stated that they listened to Fulton's "confession" fifteen minutes before the fight started.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—Late today the four principals in the Fulton-Fuente heavy-weight boxing contest at the American Legion stadium in Culver City, near here, last Monday evening, all had put up bonds for their appearance on charges of violating the state statute prohibiting prize fighting. Fred Winsor, manager of Tony Fuente, Mexican heavy-weight, appeared in the district attorney's office and through their attorney denied any part in the alleged frameup in which Fulton, the Minneapolis plasterer-fighter, took the count after thirty-five seconds in the ring. They then appeared in court, posted bonds, and were released until Nov. 26, when their cases will be called.

Fulton in Custody.

Yesterday Fulton and his manager, Jack Reddy, were taken into custody and went through the same proceedings. They are scheduled to appear next Monday.

All four principals have denied being parties to any double dealing, Winsor most vehemently of all. "There's more in this than has come out yet," he declared after his hearing late today. "Four investigators for the district attorney's office came to the arena the night of the fight and said they had been sent out to watch what happened. I had chairs placed for them at the ringside, one at each corner."

"I replaced Tom Jones as referee because the people in the district attorney's office said he had bad eyes," Chief Deputy District Attorney Buron Fitts, when informed of Winsor's statement regarding the change of referees, characterized it as "silly." He said nothing had been said to Winsor about referees.

Fight "Not on the Level."

Fulton at first refused to answer questions, but denied "that there were any arrangements by Reddy or Winsor or Fuente that I was to be knocked out."

His manager, however, was more communicative and admitted that "the fight looked suspicious."

"Wasn't on the level," he was asked.

"That is the way I would put it," Reddy said. Reddy also stated that Fulton had warned his friends to refrain from betting on him.

A committee of Los Angeles citizens today appeared at city council session and asked adoption of a city ordinance legalizing ten round bouts under the new state law when it takes effect about Jan. 1. This will probably be acted on at the next council session in a week.

LEONARD ISSUES DEF TO ANY AND ALL

New York, Nov. 19.—Bennie Leonard, world's lightweight champion, issued a challenge tonight to any and all rivals for his crown. "I am ready to meet all comers in any part of the United States," declared Leonard, who recently intimated that because of what he characterized as a dearth of opposition in the east, he would accept a title match in Los Angeles.

The champion's latest statement, however, explains that if he receives no bona fide fight offer within two weeks he will resume his motion picture work. At present, he said, he had no definite offer for a match, and added his belief that there are no logical contenders in sight at this time.

PESEK SIGNS UP FOR MAT BOUT AT COLISEUM

John Pesek of Omaha, generally considered one of the strongest contenders for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, has been signed to meet a worthy opponent in one of the sport's most important matches at the Coliseum between Pat McGill of Nebraska and Mike Romano, the Italian, at the Coliseum next Wednesday night.

Local fans will recall Pesek's match with Marvin Fiestina at the Coliseum a few years ago. At that time Fiestina scaled 240 pounds and Pesek, 185.

They wrestled for over three hours without a fall, but during most of the struggle Fiestina was on the defensive.

McGill has settled down to strenuous training at a local gymnasium, while Romano came into the city late yesterday afternoon and posted his $750 forfeit with Promoters John Krohn and Charley Cutler.

Pesek, who won the world title in Antonio Rocco, the latest Italian midweight, is the feature bout of the matches at the Star and Marston tomorrow night, arrived in Chicago yesterday.

BY WALLACE ABBEY.

Although they will be obliged to compete unattached because of a ruling which prohibits Sunday competition in the name of the school, eight Armour Tech athletes are going to be at the starting mark when The Tribune A. A. holds its second annual cross-country event in Washington park Sunday afternoon, Nov. 30, at 2 o'clock.

These athletes were entered yesterday by H. R. Phalen, track coach of the south side institution. Coach Phalen has long been a cross-country fan and has shown great interest in The Tribune event. The boys from his squad are O. P. Robinson, E. L. McHenry, P. D. Payne, R. W. Ball, R. T. Hamlett, P. M. Kratochvil, P. Phelan and B. Herzon.

Colleagues to Enter.
Indications yesterday pointed to a large number of college athletes in the event, competing either under school colors or unattached. Word was received from Marquette university in Milwaukee that several athletes there were interested and probably would enter, while Coach Frank Hill of Northwestern plans to send a batch of freshmen into the race unattached.

The standing of college athletes will in no way be affected, providing they compete unattached if the school does not desire them to race in its name. All must be members of the A. A. U. Louis B. Reitman, chairman of the registration committee of the amateur body, will be glad to enroll prospective members. He may be reached at 55 East Washington street, Chicago.

More A. C.'s to Compete.
Three more organizations were added to the ever increasing list yesterday. They are the Peerless A. C., the Woods A. C., and the Austin City Rollers. These organizations will be represented by Frank Kull, Tom Kane, and James T. Crowley, respectively.

Unattached entries received yesterday included Walter Stoppa, 1505 Augustana street; William Zupf, Winnetka, and E. N. Osterlund, 5206 West Chicago avenue.

Woods and Waters% BOB BECKER

SCREECHER, THE NOCTURNAL HUNTER.

A FEW mornings ago, just as we poked our head out of a window to note the purple and gold glory of the rising sun, a weird tremulous call sounded from woods 150 feet away which told us that there were still a few birds sticking around unworried by Old Man Winter. A little screech owl was responsible for that early morning salute to us. He let go one of his melancholy whistles that sounded much closer than it really was. We just imagined this rusty red fellow sending out one final call as he edged into his daytime sleeping place after a night of hunting and feasting.

Of course, we had no chance to see whether this bird was wearing the red brown or mottled gray and black plumage. The way the little screechers vary in plumage without reference to sex, age or season is one of the bird mysteries for some one to tackle. Sometimes birds of the same brood wear different feathers, one showing a handsome brownish red coat and another decorated in gray and black.

For the winter months you can rest assured that the screech owls have located secluded protected roosting places where they can escape some of the wintry winds and storms. A dense evergreen or a tangle of vines is often appropriated for this purpose.

O'BRIEN RE-ELECTED BY GARFIELD GOLFERS

Michael J. O'Brien was re-elected president of the Garfield Golf club at the annual meeting and election held last night at the Auditorium hotel. Roy A. Livingstone succeeded T. S. Crocker as vice president. Livingstone has been chairman of the sports and pastime committee, which post went to S. J. Trant.

James Van Cleave was re-elected secretary, while George E. R. Flynn went over for another term as treasurer. New directors, elected for three years, included W. J. Twombly, George J. Crane, and C. V. Holden.

President O'Brien, in his annual address, informed the members that 1924 was one of the best years the club has had since its existence. He also advised them that the West Park board had under consideration the installation of shower baths in the locker rooms, several improvements in the course and probably the appointment of a regular greenkeeper.

Members of the La Grange Country club elected the regular ticket at the annual meeting, as follows: President, Arthur E. Hall; vice president, R. T. Franklin; secretary, R. L. Lapham; treasurer, W. P. Dexter; board of governors, N. B. Clark, F. S. Lodge, B. C. Ross.

Rumor has it that another eighteen hole course will be built next year on the south side. The site will be on the McCord farm at Oak Hills club.

Golfers of the Illinois Athletic club, who had planned to play in a tournament today at the Crystal Lake Country club as guests of Vice President J. Will Johnson, have called off the event. The recent snowfall was heavier in the country than in Chicago and much of the ground is still covered.

The hunt committee at the Onwasha club announced that the house will meet for Thanksgiving day drag at 11 a. m. at Mr. Bab's stables, instead of 2 p. m., as previously announced.

"CHICK" HARLEY OPENS FIGHT LUNACY CH

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—Friends of Charles "Chick" Harley, who stepped him out of the hospital Dec. 2, 1922, today announced that they had secured the action and told details which former football star's on.

Many persons in Probate court records Harley was sent to the hospital Dec. 2, 1922. The suit was signed by a student at Ohio State university.

Trainer today brought the story that he was as a Western conference director Harley when he was in his glory. Frank "Tex" Trainer asserted, was in Harley's room the night of the latter, according to a taken against his warty sheriff to the Dayton Young, however, that there was no dep Harley's room that night and William F. Willie "Next of Kin" of Dr. J. J. football coach at the was declared by Trainer the lunacy papers as "This, the attorney announced because Harley's p Chicago.

The records show that examined by Drs. H. R. and R. A. Kidd, both of sets. Dr. Kidd is head sanitarium at which, proceedings, Harley prior to the hearing, can would discuss the Harley was without most popular athletes of Ohio State.

"CHICK" HARLEY OPENS FIGHT ON LUNACY CHARGE

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—Columbus friends of Charles "Chick" Harley, whose crooked smile and side stepping gait won him an immortal place in football's hall of fame while he was a member of Ohio State's Western conference teams of 1916-17-18, are looking forward with interest to the opening of a hearing Monday before Probate Judge Hotelick in which Harley will attempt to have set aside proceedings declaring him insane.

A motion asking that this be done was filed this week by J. J. Trainor, Chicago, Harley's attorney. The court set the hearing for Nov. 24, but interest in the case was revived today when Trainor in Chicago said he was on "what grounds the action will be sought and told details which led up to the former football star's commitment."

Many Persons Involved.
Probate court records show that Harley was sent to the Dayton State hospital Dec. 2, 1922. The lunacy affidavit was signed by Ned Giesy, student at Ohio State university at the time.

Trainor today brought names into the story that are as well known in Western conference circles as that of Harley when he was in the heights of his glory. Frank "Tea" Young, captain of this year's Buckeye squad, Trainor asserted, was present in Harley's room the night of Dec. 2, when the latter, according to his attorney, was taken against his will by a deputy sheriff to the Dayton institution.

Young, however, today, asserted that there was no deputy sheriff in Harley's room that night. He said he and William F. Havens and Ray Pennell were the only ones in the room. Havens and Pennell are Columbus men who have been active in graduate circles at the university. Havens refused to discuss the matter, and Pennell could not be found.

Wiles "Next of Kin."
The name of Dr. John W. Wiles, football coach at the university, it was declared by Trainor, appeared on the lunacy papers as "next of kin." This, the attorney asserted, was illegal because Harley's parents lived in Chicago.

Dr. Wiles said he had no knowledge of such use of his name. "It is absurd on the face of it," he declared.

The records show that Harley was examined by Drs. R. C. Tarbell and R. A. Kidd, both Columbus alienists. Dr. Kidd is head of a private sanitarium at which, according to the proceedings, Harley was a patient prior to the hearing. Neither physician would discuss the case.

Harley was without question the most popular athlete of all time at Ohio State.

Harley Set For Court.
Charles "Chick" Harley, leading athlete at Ohio State university for years ago, announced through his attorney today that he was ready to return to Columbus, O., next week to fight the lunacy charge placed against him two years ago.

The case will be heard Monday before Probate Judge Homer Hotelick, who entered the lunacy finding, which still stands. James J. Trainor, counsel for Harley, said that the famous football player has filed an affidavit with Judge Hotelick, setting forth that he was never examined by physician, and that the lunacy hearing was never held.

Not an Ohio Resident.
The Ohio laws require that the subject of a lunacy petition be present at the time of the hearing, said Mr. Trainor, or that the judge shall visit him. Objection would also be raised, said the attorney, that Harley was a resident of Illinois, so that the Ohio courts could have no jurisdiction in the case.

Harley was held at the state hospital for the insane at Dayton, O., from Dec. 2 to Dec. 24, 1922, but not from Jan. 18 to Jan. 22, 1923, as the hospital record shows, the attorney asserted.

NET COMMITTEE ISSUES WARNING TO BAD ACTORS

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The council of the Lawn Tennis association, meeting last night, discussed the recommendations of its committee, which recently heard charges of bad court conduct against leading tournament players, and issued a strong warning that the actions complained of must stop. Severe disciplinary action was threatened including suspension of the offenders from participation in tournament play.

The council also decided to submit to the next general meeting of the association an amendment to the regulations under which any competitor expressing disapproval of an umpire's verdict will be liable to disqualification.

4 Teams Enter Eastern Hockey Association Race

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—The eastern wheel of the United States Amateur Hockey association this year will consist of four teams, three in this city and one in Pittsburgh, it was announced tonight by Vice President George V. Brown. Pittsburgh will have teams in both the eastern and western groups, the eastern team being known as the Pirates and the western as Yellow Jackets.

Twenty Wrestlers Out as Purple Workouts Begin

FREEMONT PLAYS ENGLEWOOD

Eckie Praises Lesser Lights of Big Ten Gridiron World

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

While much has been said and written of the supposedly stronger football teams in the western conference, showing of lesser lights have been overlooked owing to the importance of the many struggles staged on each week end.

Although Iowa is not rated as one of the weak teams in the Big Ten by any means, the fact is being overlooked that the Hawkeyes will have some claim to conference honors in the event certain things happen on Saturday. If Iowa can beat Michigan, the Badgers defeat Chicago, and Ohio is victor over Illinois, then Coach Ingwersen's eleven will be entitled to some part of the honors at least.

Illinois Had Wind.

Iowa was defeated by Illinois by a lopsided score. The statement was made on the day after the game that Coach Zuppke's eleven would not have won such a large score had not Illinois been favored by a gale in the opening period. The Orange and Blue scored three touchdowns in the first period and had the game on ice before it was well under way.

In its first conference game Iowa and Ohio State struggled to a scoreless tie. The Hawkeyes then defeated Minnesota and in turn were beaten by Illinois. Last Saturday Coach Ingwersen took his eleven to Madison and won from the Badgers. On the week end Iowa will play Michigan at Ann Arbor. With the exception of the Illinois and Ohio games the Hawkeyes have won all other struggles.

Northwestern has done remarkably well. Its showing against Chicago last Saturday in a game which the Maroons won, 2 to 0, was among the big surprises of the day. In fact, the Purple showed wonderful spirit by recovering from a bad defeat by Michigan in a week's time. Loss of the Purdue game is still felt in Evanston, but such a downfall happened to the best of teams. Northwestern has won from Indiana, Michigan Argles, Cincinnati, and South Dakota.

Better Purple Spirit.

Showing of this year's Purple eleven has been better than that of any year Northwestern team in recent years. There has been a more determined spirit among the players. There has been better team play, and, above all, Coach Thistlethwaite has a dependable back in Baker, one of the most versatile performers in the conference.

Indiana figured in one of the big surprises of the year when it defeated Ohio State and eliminated the Buckeyes from any claims to the conference title. In this game, the Hoosiers played consistent football, their line attack being powerful and sustained. Indiana made a most creditable showing against Chicago and lost a hard fought battle to Northwestern. It has defeated Rose Poly, De Pauw and Wabash, but lost an interesting intersectional match to Louisiana. Since the victory over Ohio State, Coach "Navy Bill" Ingram has been pointing his eleven for the Purdue game at Lafayette on Saturday.

THOMAS A WINNER

HARRY THOMAS, Chicago's brilliant half back, has an unusual record to keep clean in the Wisconsin-Maroon battle at Stagg field Saturday. During the three years that he has played at the Midway he has not participated in a conference game in which the Maroons were defeated. Last year when Illinois beat Chicago, 7 to 0, Thomas was declared ineligible to play the night before the game. He was also absent from the lineup in the game Ohio State won, 7 to 0, in 1923. These are the only games Chicago has lost in three years.

At Purdue Coach Jimmy Phelan is doing all that can be expected of him. The Big Ten team has won from Wabash in their opening game and then lost a hard fought struggle to Ohio State by a single touchdown. Rose Poly was beaten easily and then Northwestern defeated Chicago last Saturday.

Wisconsin must be considered in the class of the weaker eleven in the conference this year because of its defeats by Iowa, Michigan, and Notre Dame. In past years, the Cardinal has always finished well up in the final ratings and unless it wins from Chicago on Saturday, Wisconsin will have experienced one of its most disastrous seasons in years in not winning a single conference game.

Minnesota showed the proper football stuff by recovering from defeats by Iowa and Michigan to win the biggest surprise of the year last Saturday when it won over Illinois.

Ohio State Does Well.
Coach Wiles of Ohio State has done well with the material at hand. There is no getting away from the fact that Jack knows his stuff but one must have men with a little knowledge of the game to accomplish the desired results.

Michigan and Chicago have done remarkably well to recover from early setbacks, while Illinois' game with Chicago and its subsequent defeat by Minnesota have ruined what every one expected to be a brilliant and successful season.

STAGG GROOMS SUBS FOR BADGER BATTLE

Minor lights on the University of Chicago grid squad were groomed last night for the Wisconsin-Maroon battle on Saturday by Coach A. A. Stagg. The significance of the Old Man's choice of spending his time with the subs of the team with the varsity being that he expects to use a tiring, smothering offense against the Badgers—a style of attack requiring frequent substitutions.

While the regulars, photoed by little Bob Curley, muntered up and down the field in signal drill, McKinney, Rouse, Holschneider, and men of similar worth were groomed to replace the more powerful players should the latter tire.

Stagg sent them stampeding against the freshmen, teaching them the offense which he has devised to foil the Cardinal.

To avoid disappointment of a defeat by the Badgers and the consequent smothering of Chicago's claim to the conference bunting, the Maroon squad is preparing to give its last ounce of strength and its last shadow of spirit to avert such a calamity.

To say that the result of Saturday's titular tilt hinges largely on the determination with which the Maroons fight the last battle of the season seems elementary. But it is, nevertheless, a fact. The team was lagged when it tackled Northwestern last week. And the Purple game was not a useful one.

ROCKWELL HAS CHANCE TO TOP SCORING COLUMN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—(By Associated Press).—An opportunity to close his football career as the leading point scorer of the Western conference is expected to spur Tod Rockwell, Michigan's great quarter back, to his best efforts in the game with Iowa here Saturday. One of the leading quarter backs of the conference, Rockwell, with a total of seventy-seven points to his credit, is only one point behind Harold Grange, of Illinois, and one point behind the leading scorer, Ed Auld, of the University of Wisconsin.

Rockwell closed his football career with the Wolverines by reason of the fact that he played one year in college football at Ypsilanti before joining the Michigan squad last year.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

WISCONSIN.
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Although reports are circulating here today that a couple of Badger regulars were laid up in the infirmary, the entire first eleven will be in excellent shape for the meeting with the Maroons on Stagg field Saturday. Coach Ryan continued his work, perfecting himself as a guard, tackle, and center positions in case a hammering of the Chicago plungers incapacitates any of his regulars. Stipek and Slaughter can capably replace Miller and Bierberget at guards.

ILLINOIS.
URBANA, Ill., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Best Ohio, before every play, Coach Zuppke's Illini worked late tonight under the floodlights in preparing to halt the Buckeyes Saturday. Scrimmages against the team who filled the air with passes from Ohio formations was the dish served up to the Zuppers, being sandwiched between two sessions of signal drills. Kaseell was back at his end post after his trial at half back yesterday. Zuppke made this experiment in an effort to get more speed into his back field.

MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Michigan's defense for the Hawkeyes was virtually complete tonight, after practice had been given over to work against Iowa formations. Capt. ## PURPLE UNAFAID OF NOTRE DAME'S FOUR HORSEMEN

Notre Dame may be favored to run rings around the Purple warriors of Glenn Thistlethwaite Saturday, but the North western gridders, undaunted by the widespread fame of the Rocke aggregation, figure on putting up the battle of their careers Saturday at the Grant park stadium. With ideal weather conditions prevailing, the Evanston eleven was given its first strenuous drill of the week yesterday afternoon.

Reports that Notre Dame intends to eat 'em alive have not dismayed the Purple. This was the attitude taken by every member of the squad yesterday as lumbering-up exercises, signal drills, and scrimmages with the frosh were held.

Wiencke's Swan Song.
The variety was forced to combat Notre Dame plays all through the scrimmage. The frosh hurled numerous passes and tried Rocke's plays. At times the regulars looked bad against the lumbering-up exercises, signal drills, and scrimmages with the frosh were held.

Saturday's game will mark the end of Capt. Wiencke's playing days at Northwestern. The star full back has played brilliantly for the last two years, being regarded as one of the best at his position, defensively. During this season the Purple pilot has improved by leaps and bounds, collaborating with Baker in supplying the punch of Coach Thistlethwaite's machine.

Three Subs to Go.
Besides Wiencke, Hastings, who has played at guard; Simon, who has not done much, because of injuries; and Townsend, 210 pound guard, will be lost to the squad. The last three named have not played regularly this year.

JOHNSON'S LOSS MAY COST GRIFFS 1925 PENNANT

New York, Nov. 19.—(Special.)—To most baseball men, the announcement of the loss of Walter Johnson to the Washington Senators means their loss of a chance to win another pennant. He leaves the American league to ally himself with the Oakland club, of which he will become half owner.

Without Johnson last season Washington would have had no chance at all. "It's Cobb," he was told. "He won more than twenty games. Unless the champion Senators can discover some pitcher to fill the gap left by the great Walter, which is highly improbable, they apparently will have little chance next season."

Cobb, in New York on the way home from a hunting trip in Canada, expressed doubts that the Senators would win again, even with Johnson.

"The Tigers are bound to be stronger and I expect the Yankees to come back strong," he said. "I don't see how the Washington club, without a lot of new players, can expect to fight these two clubs off. Unless some big things happen in the spring it looks to me as if the fight would be between the Tigers and Yankees."

This was said before it was known that Johnson would definitely retire from major league ball so as to become an owner. Therefore, if Cobb's judgment is right, the Senators are absolutely hopeless as repeaters.

Walter Johnson declared positively during the world's series that he would not play big league ball again. It was his desire to quit while he still had his pitching strength.

Exempt From Waiver.
He did not want to be a has-been. This created quite a flurry among American league managers at that time. Many of them insisted that Griffith ought to keep him in the league. No other club could claim him under the waiver clause. A player who has served ten years continuously is exempt from the waiver—from being sent down the river, as they call it.

TEARNEY TO QUIT AS CHIEF OF THREE EYES

Before another season rolls around the Three Eyes league will have to find itself another executive. Al Tearney is through with the job; at least he will be on Feb. 3, although his term has another year to run.

The owners of the little circuit gathered at the Great Northern hotel yesterday, and Tearney unexpectedly informed them that he desired to resign. He forestalled any plan to have him remain by stating flatly that his mind was made up and that he would step out next February when a meeting will be held to elect his successor.

Tearney has served the Three Eyes for a dozen years, during which more than one obstacle in the league's path was hurdled only because the president dug into his own pocketbook.

Jack Ryan, who for nine years has been president of the Peoria club of the Three Eyes, was offered the presidency but declined it. He intends to resign at Peoria within a few weeks.

Before yesterday's meeting adjourned Tearney named a committee to find a candidate for the post. Fred Young of Bloomington, Ill., was mentioned.

MARANVILLE'S
AUTO INJURES
5 YEAR OLD LAD

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 19.—Walter J. (Rabbit) Maranville, former Pittsburgh Pirate, who was recently traded to the Chicago Cubs, was the driver of an automobile which struck and seriously injured Frank Smoeda, aged 5, tonight. The boy's skull was fractured.

Maranville surrendered at the district police station, where a charge of reckless driving was entered against him. He was released under $1,000 bail pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

Maranville told police that some boys were playing on the sidewalk when one of them pushed the Smoeda lad into the path of his automobile.

For National Advertising Newspapers Lead Magazines

THERE are only a few national magazines. The advertising they carry is all known as "national." It is checked and tabulated by various statistical organizations. Any advertising agency is able to quote, on an instant's notice, the amount spent by any national advertiser in any magazine or group of magazines.

On the other hand, there are thousands of newspapers. Want ads and the copy of local stores occupy more space in their columns than "national" advertising. There has been no systematic tabulation of national advertising in newspapers.

Therefore, many people have assumed that "national" advertising meant magazine advertising. Manufacturers entering upon advertising campaigns are always shown what their competitors are doing in magazines because the figures are so easy to secure. Advertising successes are often credited to the magazine space used, though it may have been only a fraction of the total advertising pressure applied.

Facts show newspapers carry lion's share of national advertising

The first attempt to summarize the expenditures of leading national advertisers in newspapers was recently made by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. In the right hand column, we print the results of this investigation. It shows that newspapers constitute the backbone of many successful national campaigns. The largest campaigns of national advertising as well as the smallest are found in newspapers.

And in no other newspaper is so much spent for national advertising as in The Chicago Tribune.

Here are some of the reasons why national advertisers find it profitable to concentrate their effort in The Chicago Tribune:

The Chicago Territory ranks first among all American markets

The Tribune commands a market of five great states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. In this market, known as The Chicago Territory, one-sixth of the country's population possesses one-fifth of the national wealth and leads in the number of income tax returns it files.

Not only has The Chicago Tribune in the city of Chicago far more circulation than any other paper, but in 1,063 other towns and cities throughout its five states, The Tribune reaches from one-fifth to four-fifths of the families.

The Tribune reaches all classes in its market—not only mechanics, clerks and farmers, but also bankers, executives and professional men. It sways women as well as men.

And The Tribune is unique among "mass mediums" in this—it has begun at the top and worked down the social scale. It reaches most of the mechanics and clerks and it reaches all of the bankers, executives, professional men and their wives. And in this tremendous, able-to-buy clientele, The Tribune has cultivated year after year responsiveness to advertising.

Chicago Tribune rates are exceedingly low in proportion to circulation.

These are the reasons why The Tribune prints more millions of advertising than any other newspaper or magazine in this or any country.

Secretary Hoover points way to increased sales at lower cost

Consider how The Chicago Tribune, as an agency to promote efficient distribution, ties in with these recommendations of Secretary Hoover:

"We have today too wide a spread between the cost of an article at the producing point and the cost to the consumer. This is undoubtedly due to the inefficiency and waste in selling; and our big problem today is, therefore, elimination of waste in distribution. No individual can prescribe a cure which will fit all industries, for each one has its own particular problem.

"I would also like to stress the need for more intensive effort in selling. Very few producers have the capacity for selling the United States as a whole, but we find many of them trying to do this. Much effort is lost upon some territories which, if properly studied, would fail to show possibilities sufficient to justify the expense of selling and advertising.

"A great many manufacturers would undoubtedly find that by limiting their efforts to more circumscribed areas and intensifying their sales activities in such areas, they would not only reduce their selling costs but would probably produce a larger volume of business."

Note that one of the largest advertisers listed in the column to the right is the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which is following the policy outlined by Secretary Hoover. This phenomenally successful concern does business only in the Central West. In that limited territory it finds it profitable to spend more in newspaper advertising than any other national advertiser spends in all the magazines in the United States.

In The Chicago Tribune alone these national advertisers spent one twenty-third as much as in the thirty leading national magazines. Hundreds of other national advertisers also used The Chicago Tribune during 1923—and many of the largest and most successful are not included in the Bureau of Advertising list which is the basis of the above table. The Chicago Tribune itself is not included, although it spent more than $200,000 in 1923 for national advertising in other newspapers.

CORN AT NEW HIGH ON MAY AND JULY; WHEAT IS HEAVY

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A big bull market was in corn, with May and July again selling at a new high on the crop, and while the best figures were not maintained due to profit taking, the close was at net gains of 3/4¢. December acted as a little tight, and went to around 5¢ under May, against 6¢ under at the close on Tuesday. Other grades firmed up in sympathy with corn, although the undertone in wheat was distinctly bearish. At the close wheat was 3/4¢ higher, oats 1/2¢ higher, and rye 1/4¢ higher.

There was nothing in the general run of news on corn that attracted much attention. Local traders were a little bearish early and sold freely only to have their offerings absorbed by houses with eastern and country connections, and when December started upward there was little for sale and with stop loss orders uncovered the advance was easily attained. Prices at the top showed 1/4¢ over the active low of 5¢ under touching 1/2¢, May 1/2¢ and July 1/2¢, while the finish was at 1/2¢, 1/2¢ and 1/2¢ on May, and 1/2¢, 1/2¢ and 1/2¢ on July.

Cash Corn is Steady Demand. Cash corn demand was less active with the basis on spot 1/4¢ lower as compared with December and new No. 4 yellow and white to arrive sold at around 5¢ under 1/4¢ below a delivery basis. Movement of the new grain is increasing with St. Louis receiving some No. 2 mixed. There was a lack of aggressive buying in wheat and the undertone was heavy from the start with the finish about the bottom with December at 1/2¢, 1/2¢, 1/2¢, May at 1/2¢, 1/2¢, 1/2¢, and July at 1/2¢, 1/2¢, 1/2¢.

Good Buying in Oats. Relatively low prices of oats as compared with corn, combined with the strength in the latter led to a good class of buying and prices advanced readily, reaching toward the last on profit taking sales. May was on top at 5¢, and October at the bottom. A small lot of Canadian was reported sold for export at the seaboard. Cash basis here was unchanged.

Norway was cash rye at the seaboard and took 240,000 bu., but there general demand remains relatively slow, and for the time being the main incentive in the market is the action of other grains.

Bullish sentiment predominates in the provision market with hard coming in for more attention. Stocks are light and the liquidation in live stock promises to result in a scarcity of hogs later in the season. The trade constructed the government cotton seed oil production report as bullish. Lard closed on a reaction with net losses of 2 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢ while -1¢ was unchanged to 2 1/2¢ higher and bellies unchanged to 5¢ higher. Packing of hogs in the west for the season to date, as compiled by the Price Current-Grain Reporter, is 2,240,000 against 2,260,000 last year. Deliveries on November contracts were 800,000. The prices follow:

U. S. SUES PAP TO TEST INCO TAX PUBLIC

Pat Harrison Re to Repeal Ac

BY ARTHUR SEARS HEIN
Washington, D. C., Nov. 19. (U. S. News.)—While an indictment was returned against a Baltimore paper for publication of tax returns, evidence today of a new congressional bill which may make repeal of the present publication of the revenue law.

The first case instituted by department of justice to test the constitutionality of the publication of newspaper publication of tax returns, paid by taxpayers involved in the more Daily Post. The law, which was voted by the federal jury at Baltimore, named the more Post company and contained counts. Each count was based on publication of the amount of single taxpayer, information under the revenue act of 1924 in public inspection but with the newspaper publication in doubt. Evidence of a reaction in congress was given in a statement by Senator Pat Harrison (Dem., Miss.) a member of the senate finance committee.

Senator Harrison declared himself ready to cooperate with publicans in the repeal or modification of the provision. One of the Democrats who is a radical Republican in favor of repeal of the law, said he was finally convinced in the law. His statement gives notice that no longer can be counted upon support the movement which was renewed by the radicals for repeal.

The extreme radicals, however, oppose repeal of the provision, renew their fight for full publication of tax returns. This was announced by Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.), one of the La Follette group who sponsored the full amendment in the last session.

La Follette Group For The Norris amendment was on the floor of the senate for the nomination of radical Republican Democrats but was rejected. Senator Norris declared he will reintroduce his amendment whenever revenue again is undertaken. Senator Harrison, in his said he has become convinced of the necessity of publicity of private tax information.

"While I supported the features of the last income tax law, I am now convinced of the defects of such a law and then appear to me. If there are any great any one year by the capital try they can employ such an argument to reduce the wages of employees. The return would or not, will give a policy."

"The amounts of whether large or small, of professional man can be and effectively used by the publication of a very tax upon the part of a lawyer might effect such a physician or lawyer be so, even though such or lawyer possessed this office in his community, and were small because of loss incurred."

"I am sure that the people are sick and tired of ornamental red tape and regulations. This constant inquiry by so-called government, who may know a subject matter they are or regulating, has done large measure honest throughout the country."

The indictment against more Daily Post charged newspaper printed income violation of section 3167 statutes, despite a war the treasury department inspection was ordered.

Slone to Speed Attorney General announced the return of said that he would court action, and believe possible to get the supreme court of the United States to adjourn. He expressed the opinion that the newspaper was in fact and that the case would be tried to the upper court.

Indictments against newspapers in other parts of the country will be returned in days, according to the news.
